The Joe Cell phenomenon has been the basis for this technology but since its release in 1998 it has be shrouded in many a theory and fringe science. The more recent developments by private researcher, Stephen Jones, puts this technology into a light and indeed a new paradigm for energy production. His theories as described in the book do not conflict with conventional science. jMAX HYDROACTIVE do not claim over unity but the energy is FREE once the system is operating. It was decided to launch this book and give this important knowledge to the world so that sophisticated labs can more fully research this truly amazing phenomenon. In fact several researchers are on the cutting edge of this and HHO technology which we hope will bring a new and more reliable energy system.
